INCHEON CONTAINER TERMINAL

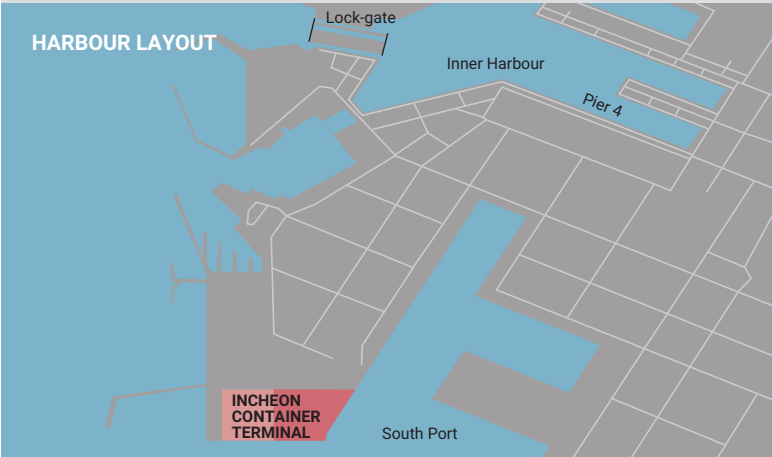

Incheon serves as the gateway port to the Seoul Metropolitan Area, home to numerous industrial complexes, approximately 1,000 manufacturers, and a population of 25 million. Together, they contribute to around 35% of South Korea's import and export market.

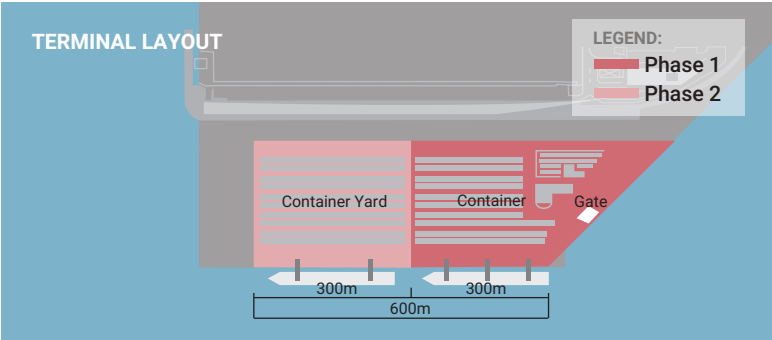

Strategically positioned in Northeast Asia, Incheon Port is an ideal port of call for the region's two economic powerhouses, China and Japan.

As the largest container terminal in the South Port of Incheon and in close proximity to key logistics centres and warehouses, Incheon Container Terminal (ICT) delivers customer-oriented services with high terminal productivity.

Currently, the terminal operates two 300-metre berths and five quay cranes, with a designed capacity of 790,000 TEUs. ■
