PSA Chennai International Terminals (PSA Chennai), located in Chennai Port, is ideally positioned to tap into the high-growth Chennai region. Serving an ever-growing hinterland and catering to the fast-expanding automobile, pharmaceuticals, textile, leather, light engineering, and chemical manufacturing sectors, the terminal handles increasing volumes supported by several weekly services. The region is also steadily emerging as a hub for coastal shipping in India.

PSA Chennai is designed to cater to the new generation of deep-draft container vessels. The terminal's connectivity to Inland Container Depot destinations is enhanced by its own seamless rail connection. It is ideally positioned to serve the growing rail container traffic generated by rail logistic operators. Chennai International Terminals became officially operational in September 2009.
